The Daily Press.

HONGKONG OFFICE: 14, DES VUEX ROAD, CL.
LONDON OFFICE: 131, FLEET STREET, E.C.

HONGKONG, 28th January, 1901

AFTER nine days' complete silence, caused by the total interruption of cable communication with Shanghai, we have at last intelligence about the progress of affairs in North China, and it is satisfactory that what news we now have promises well for real progress on the road to settlement of the most dangerous crisis which has occurred in the later history of China. The report from Hsianfu seems to indicate an improvement on the position of a few days back, for in the latest copy to hand of the North China Daily News intrigues of a serious nature are reported to be existent at the temporary capital, the principal of which were those between the notorious and bigoted LU CH'UAN-LIN, Grand Councillor and former Governor of Kiangsu, and TSEN CH'UN-SUN, present Governor of Shensi, both of whom were trying to get the supreme power while the Court remains in Hsianfu. At present, our contemporary then stated, TSEN holds greater influence with the Empress Dowager and also possesses the military power of the province as its Governor, while LU CH'UAN-LIN, on the other hand, does not hold, and without which he finds himself unable to do anything against his rival for power. Governor TSEN, we may conjecture, is advocating the return of the Imperial Court to Peking, preparations for which he is making. The Daily News learns that LU CH'UAN-LIN telegraphed to FENG TZET-SAI, a celebrated Cantonese General who is now Provincial Commander-in-chief of Kweichow, to lead an army of some 15,000 men of all arms to go up to Hsianfu with all haste and there await the orders of the Grand Council, but there is said to be little likelihood of General FENG marching north-west. The Hsianfu despatch mentioned by our Shanghai correspondent gives the end of February as the date of the Court's return to Peking, from which it seems that the straits of the Imperial family and suit cannot be so bad as have been imagined. In all probability the supplies from the Yangtze region and South China have been greater than we knew of. With regard to the statement that the Empress Dowager is awakening to activity, it is difficult to know in what spirit to receive this. If the Empress is only rousing herself from the torpor into which she sank early last year, when Prince TUAN's influence first made itself known, in order to side with those blind advisers who would listen to the schemes of the wildest anti-foreign fanatics, she will be adding one more injury to the long list of wounds which she has inflicted on the Chinese people. If on the other hand she is chastened by the sufferings which the Imperial family, herself included, have gone through since the flight from Peking, and is weary of the long stay, little better than forced detention, at Hsianfu, she has a chance of performing at least one good act, by using what influence she has in favour of the more provident party at court and pressing for a departure from Shensi. It is rather an ominous sign that the Emperor is stated to be ill, for in the past such reports have usually preceded some fresh folly on the part of the nominal government of China. It can, however, hardly be a matter for wonder if His Majesty KWANG HSU is actually in a bad state of health, for he is known always to have been of weak constitution, and his environment for the last year, indeed ever since the fatal comp d'etat, has been one calculated to act disastrously on a stronger man than he is. A speedy return to Peking and a release from a long captivity are wanted to give him a chance of recovery, and all patriotic Chinese must recognise this and join therefore in urging the move from Hsianfu.

The remainder of the news from the North indicates the gradual spread of peace. Shantung is about to witness foreign activity on a larger scale than before. The German railway and mining engineers are preparing for a campaign of a very different nature from that carried on under the leadership of Count von WALDERSEE in the neighbouring province of Chihli. With the re-awakening of commerce, missionary enterprise will probably be resumed at once. YUAN SHIKAI, Governor of Shantung, has invited the missionaries to return to their stations in his province, and promises full protection alike to them and to their native converts. There can be no doubt that they will accept the invitation to take up their work again. We venture to express the hope that in so doing they will not altogether forget the lessons of the past, and that the controlling bodies of the various organisations who devote themselves to Christianising the Chinese will see the advisability of confining the women (and still more, of course, children) connected with their work strictly to the coast ports. It is not because of any actual danger likely to befall them in Shantung that we hope for this; but the whole system of sending helpless women and children into the interior has been amply demonstrated by the events of last year to be foolish—nay, rather, criminal. Waiving for the present all question of the shock to Chinese conventions by the difference of Western customs where the weaker sex is concerned, there must always be an element of risk in taking women and children beyond all reach of Western civilisation. If Governor YUAN SHIKAI'S invitation be accepted, a start will be made in a new attempt to convert China. The missionary bodies will show themselves unfit for their task if they continue to neglect all precautions, as they have done in the past.

The street hitherto known as Market Street has been renamed Po Hing Fong Street.

Lieuts. J. H. Aitken and R. Mitchell, Hongkong Volunteer Corps, have been granted twelve months' leave of absence.

The weekly prayer meeting in connection with the Hongkong Christian Union will be held in the Music Room at the City Hall this evening at 5.15 p.m.

The recognition of Mr. W. F. Aldrich, U. S. Vice-Consul and Deputy Consul-General, as in charge of the U. S. Consul-General, during the absence on leave of Mr. Rounsaville Wildman, is notified in the Gazette.

After the benediction at St. John's Cathedral yesterday morning, the organist played the Dead March in Saul, the choir and congregation standing. After evensong Chopin's "Marche Funèbre" was played, the choir walking out in silence. On both occasions the organist managed the organ with great effect.

The China pony Tarantula, which in Mr. "Evelyn's" name won the Racing Stakes and took third place in the Champion Stakes at Amoy, this month, was offered for sale by auction at the Race Course on Saturday morning by Messrs. Hughes and Hough, and was bought in at $550. A couple of waters fetched $100 a piece.

On the Recreation Ground on Saturday Harman's Circus gave two performances, on each occasion meeting with a well deserved triumph. To-night the new attractions, the Janesons, make their first appearance, and a full tent is expected to welcome them. No previous circus has brought so strong a company to Hongkong.

The French cruiser, Descartes, arrived on Saturday from Macao.

On Saturday afternoon and night Pellard's Lilliputian Opera Co. repeated The Lady Slavey at the Theatre Royal with marked success. To-night the last performance of this bright musical comedy takes place, and to-morrow The Geisha will be staged again by request.

Sportsmen at the Peak will doubtless be interested to learn that on Saturday afternoon a full-grown woodcock was flushed from the boggy bed of the tiny streamlet that wanders down towards Pokfulam, past the Homestead and of the Chamberlain Road, within thirty yards of the roadway.

Mr. Erich Georg says in his weekly share list, dated Hongkong, 28th January.—During the week under review business has been fairly active. While Hongkong and Shanghai Bank shares and Wharf shares have weakened slightly, other stocks, principally Yangtze and Canton Insurance, Hongkong, Canton and Macao Steamboats, Indo-China, Dock-shares, Hongkong Lands and less have hardened, and higher prices have been paid.

We have received from the office of the Kokumin Shinbun, Tokyo, a beautifully printed Japanese calendar and a copy of the New Year's Day edition of the paper. The latter has a sixteen-page illustrated supplement on fine paper, which does the greatest credit to the office. The illustrations, some of which are printed in red, are of a high order artistically, and encourage the hope that Japan is not forgetting her old culture entirely under the stress of modern civilisation. On the bulk of the letterpress we are unfortunately unable to express an opinion, but we can bear witness to the merits of the printing.

News has been received from Changsha, the capital of Hunan province, according to the N. C. Daily News, to the effect that several tribes of the Miaoze aborigines inhabiting the mountainous regions dividing the two provinces of Hunan and Kweichow have set up the standard of insurrection against the mandarins and have defeated the Imperial troops sent against them with great slaughter thrice in succession. The consequence has been that an appeal for aid has now been sent to Changsha, and a demand for at least 5,000 troops has been made upon Governor YU Lien-shan of Hunan province, failing which the military posts in the Miaoze territory will have to be abandoned.

The Burice, which is the largest sea going single screw steamer ever built in Shanghai, is intended for the far northern Russian trade, from Vladivostok to Petropavlovsk, and for this reason has been built so as to be used in case of need as an ice-breaker. Her stem is double plated, and strongly backed with baulks, while her form is such that she will run into the pack if driven at it, thus by her own weight materially assisting in clearing the way. She is fitted throughout with double bottoms, her bulkhead arrangements having had special care. Above decks the boat has all modern appliances, steam steering and hoisting gear, steam-heaters, and electric light throughout. On the 19th inst. she was taken over the measured mile, and made a splendid trial-trip, running, according to the Mercury, 11 knots.

The N. C. Daily News reports that at 8.30 a.m. on the 22nd inst. a large Chinese lorch, while making its way up the river, and endeavouring to cross the bow of H. M. torpedo-boat destroyer Whiting, collided with her, carrying away the port rigging and damaging the anchor-chain. While the effort to get the lorch clear and prevent further damage went on quietly aboard the Whiting, a regular pandemonium reigned on the lorch, and it took the combined efforts of the police launch with several launches of H. M. fleet—who came promptly to assistance—to get the clumsy vessel clear. The Whiting on its way up river to Messrs. Butterfield and Swire's wharf had to drop anchor quickly to prevent either collision with the lorch or running ashore, as the unwieldy craft swinging around blocked the entire passage.

Writing under date the 19th inst. from Chemulpo, the Korean correspondent of the Kobe Herald refers to what he calls the spirit of unrest in Korea, and says the plans of some Korean anti-foreign officials have been made known, and their idea of making a general slaughter of native Christians and missionaries in the Korean tenth month has failed. At least no attempt of a serious nature has been reported. The Minister of a certain country issued a private circular asking the missionaries to forego any intended missionary trip into the interior for some little time. This bears out my statement, says the correspondent, some weeks ago that some missionaries had to return to the capital after getting a few days out from Seoul, finding much opposition and danger in the interior. I am glad to know the Minister laid great stress on the undesirability of single ladies travelling in the interior. The influx of Koreans into the Christian Churches in Ping Yang is large, and much trouble is caused through many entering mainly for some protection, which now so large a body of people claim, when a "question" comes to be settled. If things go on at the present rate the Koreans in the province who have learnt to some extent what justice, right and wrong is, not only in the sight of God, but what ought to be between man and man, will naturally revolt against the great injustice and unlawful taxation and treatment meted out by the cruel Korean officials. I believe a good look-out is being kept on some Koreans who are known for their hatred toward foreigners and Christianity, concludes the writer.

A number of secret memorials, says the Universal Gazette, have recently been presented to the Empress Dowager by Conservative officials in the refugee Court. Some of the memorials suggested that the peace negotiations, now going on at Peking, should be discontinued; others proposed that the country should be divided into two portions—a north-western and a south-eastern—to be defended separately; while some recommended that those high officials who had been degraded for their complicity with the Boxer troubles and whose heads were demanded by the Allied Powers, should be raised to power once more. Finally some have advised that a large supply of arms and ammunition must be manufactured at once to prepare for a resumption of hostilities. These memorials, it is said, the Empress Dowager has already sent to the Viceroy and Governors of various different provinces for discussion.

It is highly probable that with regard to the Marconi system of wireless telegraphy, the battleship Glory now in the harbour will possess the last (or, at least, one among the last) of the Marconi apparatuses fitted on His Majesty's warships. Although the Admiralty had purchased the right to use the Marconi apparatus on their ships, some question has arisen as to the patents, to settle which the battleship will probably be had to the Law Courts. Mr. Marconi sits daily in his experimenting rooms at Pease steadily working out the details of his system, and concerns himself but little with the commercial side of the business. Anent the position of affairs between himself to the Post Office, it is merely a question of the Government coming to terms with the Marconi company. The Government claims an absolute monopoly of the telegraphic systems of whatever kind used within the United Kingdom. It bases these claims on the Telegraphs Act of 1868, in which it is set forth that the term "telegraph" means "wire or wires used for the purpose of telegraph communication and any apparatus connected therewith." This in itself is not sufficient to give the Government a monopoly over wireless telegraphy, but in 1869 a further act was passed which stated that the term "telegraph" shall, in addition to the meaning assigned to it in the Act of 1868, mean and include any apparatus for transmitting messages by means of electric signals. It is further laid down that the Postmaster General shall have the exclusive privilege of transmitting telegrams within the United Kingdom. The case for Mr. Marconi is provided by the Patents Act. The Government is in exactly the same position with regard to patents as any private individual. Therefore, since all of Mr. Marconi's processes are patented, the Government cannot make use of them without infringing the act.

SUPREME COURT.

Saturday, 26th January.

IN SUMMARY JURISDICTION.

BEFORE HIS HONOUR T. SERCOMBS SMITH (ACTING JUSTICE).

REMEDIOS V. FREDERICKS.
In this case the plaintiff, J. C. dos Remedios, of College Chambers, sought to recover from J. A. Fredericks, broker, College Chambers, $250, part of the sum of $325 belonging to the plaintiff and handed to the defendant on 6th September, 1900, for the purpose of payment by him to the Punjom Mining Company, Limited, of the said sum of $325 in respect of calls on 525 shares in the said Company. Mr. Grist appeared for the plaintiff and Mr. Thomson for the defendant. It was alleged on behalf of the plaintiff that the defendant only paid in $275 to the Company, and plaintiff now sued for the balance. Remedios sold the shares, which were in his name, to Captain Jenkins. Jenkins passed the shares back to Remedios to hold on account of a loan. On 6th September, Jenkins paid $700 to Fredericks at the request of Remedios, $255 of which was to be paid in respect of Punjom calls. Subsequently Fredericks asked Jenkins to let him pay only $275 in respect of the calls, and to allow him to keep the other $250 as a loan from him (Jenkins). Jenkins agreed, and the point raised is whether Remedios agreed to this arrangement. Evidence having been heard His Lordship reserved judgment.

THE LATE QUEEN EMPRESS.

SERMON AT ST. JOHN'S CATHEDRAL.

Yesterday morning at St. John's Cathedral the Rev. R. P. Cobbold preached, taking as his text the words in St. John's second Epistle "The elect Lady," and spoke of her late Majesty Queen Victoria. Mr. Cobbold said:—
I am sure, my Christian brothers and sisters, that you look for no sermon on any general topic to-day. Possibly silence would most rightly testify to our inability adequately to express the profound thoughts which possess all our hearts at this time. Yet it is my part to speak here, and I could not stand and speak in this place even of the riches of the good tidings of the Gospel of Christ without reference to the sad tidings which have been flashed to the remotest corner of the civilised world, and have stirred all hearts to acknowledge the tremendous fact that "The Queen is dead." On Saturday next we shall have an opportunity of humbly and reverently performing an official and public act of mourning. To-day, while we have tried in our service not to lose the character of the Christian Sunday, yet we have been careful that no variable part of the service should be inappropriate to the great topic of present grief. A few words in tribute to the memory of one whom, for herself and for her conspicuous goodness, as well as for the august and lofty position which she held, we all "loved in truth," as faithful children love the mother who has borne them and nurtured them. There are, of course, many words in Holy Scripture which would supply a suitable text for a sermon. They crowd upon one's mind as one thinks of the mystery of death and the blessed hope of immortality, of a nation's darkest hour of bereavement and the rich possibilities of its inheritance of a triumph over human sorrow and the largest of God's consolation in Christ. Three words, however, stand at the head of Saint John's second Epistle which may fitly form a title to our thoughts to-day. They are "The Elect Lady." Who she was to whom the evangelist addressed his brief letter, we do not know, but apparently she was one revered and greatly beloved, a woman blessed and well known, a mother of sound faith and of strong influence for good. In these respects she resembles our great Queen Empress, "The Elect Lady, and her children, whom I love in truth." So Saint John writes: so our hearts preserve the reverend memory of our "Elect Lady," and her children, whom we love in truth. (What though her tired body sleeps at Windsor, and her weary brain rests from its labours, and her heart throbs no more with the pulse of mortality; to us she is the same "Elect Lady"; our affection cannot die, our regard cannot diminish, the splendour of her memory cannot fade; though her work is over, and her warfare past, we can still say "whom we love in truth." The love of the British people for their Sovereign is a national characteristic. It is no mere sentiment of official respect, but a real personal affection, called forth in spite of the necessary seduction and ceremony of the Court, by the real goodness in the object beloved, and by the Crown's undoubted sympathy with the needs of the whole nation. Our beloved Queen was, as is the Elect Lady. Elect by the will of the King of Sovereigns and "only Ruler of Princes": elect among English women as the type of pure goodness, of womanliness and of unaffected goodness, elect among mothers to "bear the white flower of blameless life": elect of God in the Faith of Christ, elect in the hearts of her people to receive their homage, love, and obedience: elect in life, and now elect through death, chosen of God to approach His Glorious Majesty in humble submission to do His will in heaven as she did it, and would have it done, on earth.

There are just three items in the meagre messages which we have as yet received of the last hours of our Elect Lady's life—items which may be retained happily in our memories. We are told that, but for one restless night, Her Majesty retained consciousness without pain. Death had no terror for her, as a beloved and obedient Prioress read prayers for his dying Sovereign. O may we die the death of the righteous; and may our last end be like hers! Again we are told that she was surrounded by her children. Happy, thrice happy, is the mother, be she ever so great or so humble, of whom it can be said as of the virtuous woman, whose "price is far above rubies," that "Her children rise up and call her blessed." And once more, we are told that the passing of Victoria came in sleep. It seems almost an ideal end: it is what many of us would desire; for so "God giveth His beloved sleep." Our Elect Lady "is not dead but asleep." The souls of the righteous are in the hands of God.

"Shall we mourn for those who are not? Nay, while love and regret still linger within our souls, they live with us yet.

If we love, then the Souls that we love, they exist and they are, As memory which makes us ourselves brings precious things from afar! There is no Death forever! Love lives and is for ever.

Therefore to-day we mourn for, we remember, we praise "the Elect Lady, and her children, whom we love in truth."

POLICE COURT.

Saturday, 26th January.

BEFORE MR. HAZELAND.

DEALING IN LOTTERY TICKETS.
Li Tsui, money-changer, Gough Street, pleaded guilty to unlawfully dealing in lottery tickets on the 25th inst., and was fined $25 or one month. He paid the fine.

BEFORE MR. KEMP.

PEACAS IN THE HARBOUR.

Three Chinamen denied the charge that on the 25th inst. they assaulted the owners of a cargo-boat in the harbour.

One of the complainants deposed that the defendants, in trying to pass on the steam of his boat, damaged it slightly. He called out to them to shove off, and, apparently resenting the tone in which he spoke, they threw bricks, wood, and other missiles at him. All the occupants of the cargo-boat were hit. First defendant took a particularly active part in the bombardment. The complainant called out to the police, and the three men were arrested in their boat.

The first was fined $3 or 10 days' hard labour; the others were discharged.

NATAL YARD EMPLOYEE FINED.

A sailmaker at the Natal Yard was charged with the unlawful possession on the 25th inst. of about sixty cartons of sugar and a white counterpane, total value $4. He denied the charge.

Lance-Sergeant Kent, who arrested the man, said he met the defendant coming off a ferry launch with the articles in his possession, regarding which he could give no satisfactory explanation.

A fine of $10 was inflicted, and paid.

BURGLARY.

A coolie was charged with unlawfully breaking into and entering a dwelling-house, on the night of the 25th inst., at 60, Wellington Street, and stealing therefrom articles to the value of $10, the property of a shopkeeper. He pleaded not guilty.

The complainant stated in evidence that about seven o'clock in the evening he noticed how the defendant in the custody of a fohi. The stolen articles were found in the street, and had been taken from a show case, the glass of which was cracked, in the front of the shop.

Another witness declared that he was bringing some clothes to the complainant, and as he entered the shop he saw the defendant picking up a parcel from the ground. He already had one under his arm. Witness arrested the man and called out to a fohi, who took charge of him.

The charge was found proven, and the defendant, against whom there is a previous conviction of being a rogue and vagabond, was sentenced to two months' hard labour.

RETURNING FROM BANISHMENT.

The place of their crimes seems to have a peculiar attraction for evil-doers. Li Yuen, who was banished from the colony in the 19th January, 1900, pleaded guilty to disobeying the order of banishment, and was sentenced to one year's hard labour.

MANILA.

[FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.]

Manila, 23rd January.

THE PROGRESS OF PEACE—A REVIEW OF PRESENT CONDITIONS.

Even the most conservative people admit that the situation in the Philippines is clearing up and improving steadily, and almost rapidly, when all things are considered. The new year finds the country much nearer peace than ever before since the American occupation, and there are many old residents who say that conditions in the pacified or subdued districts are more satisfactory than in Spanish days. The provinces of Central Luzon are rapidly approaching a normal state, and the people are settling down to their natural pursuits after from three to four years of insurrection and lawlessness. Under the active policy of the military authorities an efficient patrol system has been maintained for the last six or eight months and the result of the work is now being seen and felt in the improvement of roads and bridges and the greatly increased security of life and property. Dozens of villages and hundreds of small barrios which were destroyed by the troops in their northward campaign have been rebuilt and it will not be an exaggeration to say that five-sixths of the people who fled to the mountains on the approach of the troops have returned and rebuilt their ruined homes. Besides these, thousands of others from the outlying districts under insurgent control have flocked into the vicinity of the garrisoned towns in order to enjoy some measure of protection. The fields have been recultivated and nature has smiled upon the war-stricken people, so that good crops have rewarded their scanty labour.

INSURRECTION INACTIVE IN NORTH-WESTERN LUZON.

The north-western half of the island, under command of General Young, has been a constant source of trouble during the past year, but since the wholesale surrender of Tiaio's forces on the last day of November there has been comparatively little trouble. The 36th Infantry has just returned from a three months' trip through these provinces and for weeks no opposition worthy of the name has been encountered. Even the ladrones find business unprofitable and they have not ventured to harass the larger towns for some time. The establishment of civil government in the province of Benguet is so recent that no practical results have been observed as yet, but the Governor's reports are enthusiastic and hopeful.

Very little has been heard from the great valley of the Cagayan in the north-east, and as there have been but few reports of hostility, it is safe to assume that affairs are progressing in a satisfactory manner. Southern Luzon is still a hotbed of trouble, partly owing to the wild nature of the country and to the stubbornness of the insurgents, who are able to live in the mountains, being fairly well supplied with food and ammunition. It is from this portion of the island that the best help is received and the troops are active in their endeavours to control the districts containing the best plantations; but their success is very limited. The widely scattered garrisons are quite unable to exert more than a temporary influence in their immediate vicinity and the insurgents of the interior practically run things according to their own sweet will, collecting taxes and raising revenue in all manner of ways.

PANAY, QUITING AND BUSINESS REVIVING.

Brigadier-General Hughes is carrying on an active campaign in the island of Panay and is accomplishing much in the cause of peace. In addition to the actual fighting he has introduced a most effective system of arresting and permanently jailing all captured insurgents, and also their active sympathisers. He has paid particular attention to the chief citizens of the various towns and barrios, and his secret service has made most careful investigations with surprising results. Civil officers, landholders, farmers, and even priests, have been gathered in for complicity with the insurgents. In many cases property has been confiscated, but in the majority simple imprisonment has been deemed sufficient. The general effect on the country of this severe policy is very manifest and in many parts whole towns have flocked in to take the oath of allegiance. Recent advices announce the unconditional surrender of General Delgado and twenty of his men. As he is the chief leader, it is expected that other officers and commanders will soon follow his example. Affairs in Negros and Cebu are slowly improving and it is merely a question of time for the attainment of peace and prosperity.

DISCOURAGING CONDITIONS IN SAMAR AND LEYTE.

Samarr and Leyte are the toughest propositions that the army has to face. The natural difficulties are really more to be feared than the insurgents, though the latter are constantly making their presence felt. The troops suffer more from the hardships of the march than from the opposition of the enemy. It is almost impossible to inflict any measure of punishment and the work is most disheartening, while the climate plays havoc with the health of the men. In addition to these difficulties, the insurgent chiefs have maintained a reign of terror for such a long time that it is very hard for the soldiers to win over the people or inspire any confidence, even in the towns which have permanent garrisons. General Hare has been operating in Samar with two thousand men for the last two months, and yet he has accomplished little or nothing, in spite of the fact that he has had the greater part of his command in action nearly all the time.

THE CAMPAIGN IN MINDANAO.

In the first week of the 28th December Infantry was sent to reinforce the garrisons on the island of Mindanao and since that time all the troops there have been very active. Previous to the arrival of the 28th Infantry practically nothing could be done beyond sending out small ineffective scouting parties, as the garrisons were constantly harassed and had all they would do to hold their own. The insurgents had numerous well-fortified strongholds to which they retired whenever hard pressed, and they knew that with the limited number of troops the Americans could not disturb them. But the arrival of the 28th Infantry changed the whole face of affairs and simplified the problem very materially. The regiment was split up into conveniently sized columns, prepared to move quickly and independently of supply-bases, and in conjunction with the regular garrisons these small units thoroughly scoured the country and eventually captured and destroyed the main strongholds of the enemy. For the present at least insurgents have been scattered in all directions and disappeared.

The large island of Mindoro, just south of Luzon, is known to be a place of refuge, hundreds of insurgents who have been driven out of various parts of the archipelago, and no doubt considerable recuperation and organization takes place there, but owing to the scarcity of troops and their great need in other more important parts of the country, it has not been deemed wise to attempt to occupy this little known and wild, untraded island.

THE NEW POLICY OF SEVERITY IS IN FULL OPERATION.

To-day the military government maintains 477 permanent posts or garrisons throughout the archipelago. Each one of these is a centre of activity from which scouting parties and small detachments are striking in all directions at all times of the day and night. It seems as though the whole army has jumped to its feet with the announcement of the result of the elections as a spur and backing. This was followed up with the issuing of General McArthur's proclamation announcing the severe policy which he authorised the troops to carry out, and they have been carrying it out to the letter of the law. The bulletins that are placed on the military news board from day to day for the information of the papers show the greatest activity in all quarters not only in killing and wounding, but in the burning of hundreds of barracks and shelters and huge stores of rice and provisions which had been laid aside for the rainy months. Besides these cases numerous villages and barrios are being wiped off the face of the country each week. These are for the most part unreported in Manila, but the news gets here from time to time. It is a severe policy and it must furnish rather interesting reflection to General Weyler who was so deeply condemned a few years ago for his harsh measures in Cuba, but it probably does more toward pacifying the island, even though through the dread of the gory soldier than a more lenient course could accomplish. The determination of the authorities to hold all prisoners is one of the strongest features of the new policy, as it does away with the much coveted hero-worship and also prevents the hundreds of men who have been captured on the field from turning out and fighting again. Under the new order of affairs Manila is fast filling up with prisoners and all the regular jails are crowded, even the criminal jail is being used for the military prisoners. Other large places of detention are being built at various convenient points about the islands. The deportation of the chief leaders to Guam has already had a marked effect. Prominent insurgents all over the city are shaking in their boots and beginning to seek a way of separating themselves from the crowd which organizes the support of the insurrection. Deportation to Guam is a pretty severe thing, as it means complete isolation and it effectually puts a stop to any negotiation with the insurgent party. The instructions read that the men sent to Guam are to be held there until general peace has been declared in the islands, so it behoves these exiles to use their every endeavour to bring about this state of affairs, and although it is not likely that they will be able to take any active part in the movement toward that end, nevertheless they can accomplish much in an indirect way and through their friends who have their interest at heart.

THE FUTURE.

In the face of all this, however, it is necessary to remember that any condition of peace that may result in the near future can be maintained only at the point of the bayonet. It will not be brought about through any love of the Americans or their institutions. To-day their knowledge of these institutions, which they will in time to come appreciate and desire, is very limited, so the immediate effect cannot be important.

The return of the volunteers at this critical time is particularly unfortunate. When the tide of the insurrection is at its lowest it is too bad that the barrier of troops is to be removed even temporarily, for the current of peace is none too certain and at any moment it may turn, and even a slight rise of the hostile elements may cause months of the hardest work to gain control of them once more. Therefore the arrival of the home troops who are to replace the returning volunteers is most anxiously desired.

Canton, 26th January.

SUSPECTED KIDNAPPING.

A telegram was sent to the Commissioner of I.M. Customs at Canton on the 22nd inst. that there were on board the steam-launch Cheong-on 24 females, who were said to have been kidnapped at Wheloo on the 21st. He immediately dispatched the Customs cruiser Fumun-chai in pursuit. On reaching Kunchuk she saw the launch taking a boat in tow, and stopped her. On going on board to make a search the crew found the 24 women in question, brought them back to Canton, and sent them to Kwang Chai Hospital to be taken care of for the time being, until their relatives and friends turn up to claim them. As no kidnappers have been arrested in their company it is possible they were not really kidnapped. The case, however, is one of suspicion.

PIRACY ON THE NORTH RIVER.

There are at present many pirates on the North River and their principal quarters are at Fan Tim, Mui Fa Chin, the Wang Sheak bamboo-plantation, Tai Mew Hap, and Tai Cheong. They are provided with firearms and boats and are scattered about on different parts of the river. Sometimes they make over ten attacks a day. Whenever they see a cargo-boat pass they shout out to her to stop, and if she does not, they open fire and board her to rob and plunder. In the majority of cases the passengers and crew do not resist, and think themselves very lucky if they escape with their lives.

THE NEW VICEROY.

His Excellency Tao Ma, the new Viceroy of Canton, is expected to be here on the 1st or 2nd prox., as a few steam-launches have been despatched to Ching-yin to take him and suite to Canton.

LATE TELEGRAMS.

NEWS VIA AUSTRALIA.

THE CRISIS IN CHINA.

Adelaide, 4th January.
The latest news to hand relative to Russian aggression in Manchuria shows that the London Times charges the Russians with a gross breach of faith towards China and the Powers.

Commenting upon Russian machinations in China the London Times correspondent, Dr. Morrison, blames the British home authorities for their complacency.

It is now stated that owing to the machinations at the Chinese Court it is doubtful if China has any intention of complying with the demands of the Powers. It is said that the Emperor is willing that Russia should proclaim a protectorate over the whole of Northern China. Some most sensational statements are being made on the Continent regarding the aggressive movements of the Russians. The Cologne Gazette, in commenting on the matter, appears to imply that Lord Salisbury is largely responsible for much of Russia's action.

Russia has published a note, which states that the proclaiming of the Manchurian protectorate is only a temporary affair, and that the step has only been taken for military purposes. Great Britain openly doubts this assertion, more especially as it is known that the harbours of Port Arthur and Talienwan are being considerably deepened, and that large Russian reinforcements have been ordered to the East.

Some of the American papers are becoming alarmed at the proposed Russian annexation of Manchuria, considering that this will close the country to American commerce. They suggest that the other Powers adopt co-operative measures for the purpose of preserving the integrity of China.

The London Times correspondent has been assured that China will accept the note issued by the Powers.

THE WAR IN SOUTH AFRICA.

Adelaide, 26th December.
Do Wet, Steyn, and Haasbroek have signified their willingness to surrender to the British if Kitchener will promise that they will not be deported, and that the other Boer leaders will be allowed to remain in South Africa. They also ask Kitchener to promise that all the Boers and rebels at present in the field under arms against the British will be allowed to return to their homes unpunished. Kitchener has notified Do Wet and the others that he cannot entertain the proposals, and that the surrender must be unconditional.

The Boers who recently invaded Capetown attacked the town of Burgersdorp, but were repulsed with heavy loss. Captain Grenfell captured some valuable pieces of ordnance while pursuing a commando of about seven hundred Boers.

At Kitchener's request further detachments of mounted men are leaving the Australian colonies.

It is stated that the Boer commanders have been informed by Kruger that if they are determined to continue the struggle for independence they must make up their minds to do so on their own account, as he could not hold out any hope of assistance from the outside world. The Powers emphatically refusing to help the Boers.

Steyn has been severely wounded in a recent fight with the British.

The invasion of Cape Colony ended most disastrously for the Boers concerned. All the enemy's forces are now retreating towards the north.

Two hundred Boers destroyed a railway train near Middleburg.

The situation in Cape Colony is at present so unsatisfactory that the Government is now busy enrolling all loyalists for the purpose of forming a corps for the protection of the communications, and to be used in throwing back the bodies of the Boer raiders who have been making themselves so troublesome of late.

Two hundred Boer raiders have stopped and looted a train near Nauwpoort. A number of volunteers were on board the train, and these the Boers marshalled into a line, then stripped them of their arms, accoutrements, and clothing and released them. Before departing they set fire to the railway carriages.

The Boers got clear away.

A minister of a Dutch church in Capetown has been arrested for openly preaching sedition for the Boers.

General Knox has defeated a strong force of Boers near Senekal, and whilst the engagement was in progress some colonial scouts attached to Knox's column captured over a thousand of the Boer's horses.

Colonel De Lisle captured a train of wagons near De Aar, and succeeded in releasing the Cape Police prisoners recently captured by the Boers.

During the engagement at Holvetia, when two hundred of the Liverpools were compelled to surrender, the Boers captured a 4.7 British gun.

The small forces of Boers who have been prowling around Cape Colony raiding still continue to give great trouble, and it is expected that it will be a very long time before these marauding bands are finally dispersed.

General Knox has administered a defeat to De Wet, the engagement taking place in the Orange River Colony.

General French captured a large number of Cape carts and horses in the Transvaal.

The Boers made a big haul on Christmas Day, when they succeeded in capturing a convoy worth fifty thousand pounds. The wagons containing the treasure were guarded by only twenty-five men of the Cape Mounted Police, whom the Boers made prisoners.

Kitchener's appeal to the Australian colonies to send detachments of bushmen, well mounted, to South Africa to check the guerrilla tactics now being pursued by the Boers is being liberally responded to by the whole of the colonies. The Adelaide contingent is numbered two hundred, and already considerably more than that number have volunteered.

The marauding bands of Boers who recently nearly succeeded in reaching Graaf Reinet have had their retreat cut off by the British cavalry, and their capture is imminent.

De Wet is again heard of in the Orange River Colony by General Knox. The Boer attempt to capture the British guns at Rhenoster has been prevented.

Carrington's Rough Riders are operating in the south-eastern Transvaal.

Large numbers of Australians continue to volunteer for service in South Africa in response to Kitchener's appeal for bushmen.

A strong feeling exists in Capetown that the absence of arms is the only reason that prevents a general rising of the Dutch population of Cape Colony. It is a well-known fact that the enemy is kept well supplied with information concerning the movements of the British, and obtains reinforcements without the least difficulty in the several farming districts in which the Boers are operating.

Kitchener continues to urge upon the War Office the necessity of sending out additional Australian reinforcements. The defence force which the Cape Government is establishing has attracted a very large number of recruits in the capital.

During the interview with the Queen, Earl Roberts made a most eloquent allusion to the grand services rendered by the Australian and Canadian troops during the war. Two thousand volunteers have been enrolled in New Zealand, 640 in Adelaide, one thousand in Melbourne. Sydney people are too busy just now with the Commonwealth celebrations to trouble about enrolling volunteers, but it is expected that fully five thousand men will come forward. A large number of the returned troops are landing at Melbourne to-day.

The home authorities have made several appointments to positions in the service in South Africa. Sir Alfred Milner has been appointed Governor of the Transvaal and the Orange River Colony. Major Gold Adams has been appointed Lieutenant-Governor of the Orange River Colony. Sir Walter F. Hely Hutchinson has been promoted from the Governorship of Natal to the position of Governor of Cape Colony. McCullum, the present Governor of Newfoundland, has been appointed to the Governorship of Natal. Sir Alfred Milner will retain the post he now holds of High Commissioner of South Africa.

Kitchener has determined to quell any attempt at an insurrection in the Cape, and is now pouring a large number of troops into that colony for the purpose of overawing the disaffected Dutch. He is also enrolling thousands of recruits for the Cape irregular forces.

Several columns of British are still busily engaged chasing De Wet, who is now operating in the Orange River Colony.

The Boer leaders who had been formed at Fannusmit, Jagerfontein, and Ficksburg, have been looted by the British. These Boers who were living in these laagers have trekked over the border into Basutoland.

Professor Martens, the great Russian authority on international law, has publicly stated that he considers that Kruger's contention that the settlement of the Transvaal dispute comes within the jurisdiction of The Hague peace conference is a most untenable and inconsistent one.

Kruger's health is reported to be very precarious. He is suffering from an attack of bronchitis, and has a weak heart.

Sir Alfred Milner, Governor of the Transvaal and the Orange River Colony, is asking the British Government to contribute £100,000 towards assisting the Uitlanders who are in distressed circumstances as the outcome of the war. The Boers have almost wrecked the famous and valuable Klondike mines, causing damage to the extent of nearly a quarter of a million.

Kitchener is taking vigorous steps towards protecting the residents of Cape Colony from the marauding bands of Boer raiders, and the possibility of a rising amongst the disaffected Dutch. The widespread nature of the disaffection amongst the Dutch in Cape Colony may be gauged from the fact that a plot has been discovered which had for its purpose the destruction of the Capetown waterworks. The farmers also defiantly refuse to sell horses to the British authorities.

The British public is greatly delighted with Australia's promptness in again offering troops for service in South Africa.

AUSTRALIAN FEDERATION.

Adelaide, 29th December.
Barton has not yet completed the formation of the Federal Ministry. South Australia is not yet represented.

Sydney is now fairly crammed with visitors. An immense amount of work yet remains to be done before the arrangements for the great Commonwealth inaugural procession are complete.

The Commonwealth inauguration ceremony was a most magnificent affair. The city was a perfect blaze of light at night, and during the day the streets fairly seethed with people.

3rd January.
The London Press all write exultingly of the initiation of the Australian Commonwealth. The Queen has sent a message to each separate colony, emphasising the high hopes she entertains of Australia's future prosperity. The Duke of York was appointed Rear-Admiral preparatory to visiting Australia. He is escorted by a naval squadron, and will most probably visit Canada.

4th January.
The Commonwealth demonstrations in Sydney yesterday were on a magnificent scale, and a great success. The different ceremonies were witnessed by enormous crowds, and the enthusiasm shown was almost boundless. The populace were convulsed with military and loyal feelings at the review of over 10,000 troops.

10th January.
Dickson, the Queensland representative in the Federal Cabinet (he held the portfolio of the Minister for Defence) died this morning.

The Sydney Commonwealth celebrations are now concluded, and most of the visitors have left the city.

The Melbourne authorities intend to try and eclipse the Sydney celebrations on the occasion of the opening of the Federal Parliament.

It is proposed to invite all the great Powers to send a warship.

BOXING IN INDIA.

The result of the twenty-round boxing contest at Calcutta on the 4th inst. between Jack McAuliffe and Jack Slavin was a win for McAuliffe after a spirited fight. Slavin was knocked down twice in the seventeenth round, but pluckily held out to the finish. The contest is thus described by an eye-witness:—

The contest was 20 rounds, with 4 oz. gloves, and the rounds were all completed, McAuliffe being adjudged the winner on points. It was a popular decision, quite upholding the popular verdict. Slavin, however, was far from being disgraced. He showed a good and stubborn defence, sticking to it with bulldog pertinacity, although a completely beaten man from the end of the fifteenth round. The struggle lasted just an hour, and in the first half Slavin fairly held his own, giving as good as he got. McAuliffe had, however, been putting in some very vicious jabs on the body, and in the eleventh round Slavin showed slight signs of distress. These were accentuated in the next two rounds; and in the fourteenth bout McAuliffe brought him to his knees with a nasty hook on the jaw. Slavin got up, however, and

A Great proportion of cataracts and diseases affecting those advancing in life occur to those having some deficiency in the construction of the eyes—the many years of "Eye Strain" leading in serious forms of disease. Glasses specially adapted in youth to those requiring them save and preserve the sight.

Constantly recurring headaches, spells of dimness when reading, weak eyes, the letters running together, any of these symptoms indicate a deficiency in the form of the eye requiring Glasses only to correct and cure.

Mr. LAZARUS supplies his SPECTACLES only after testing the sight.

THE LATE QUEEN'S CHRISTMAS.

A Canadian contemporary gives the following account of Her Majesty's Christmas at Osborne:

The Christmas shopping at Osborne is usually the earliest feature of the festival. The Queen does not exactly go shopping: the shops come to her. The lucky dealers who by royal warrant are entitled to describe themselves as "Fur-veyors to Her Majesty" send samples of their choicest wares to the palace, and for a week after the middle of December the Queen and Princess Beatrice, and any other princesses that happen to be handy, are busy selecting presents. These are not bought in job lots by any means, for it is a pet theory of the Queen that thought contributes as much as money to the value of a present. So she takes pains that each gift shall be suited especially to the recipient. First come the Queen's fifty-one children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren, in every individual one of whom, for some reason or another, the Queen takes a special interest.

The week before Christmas is usually a busy time for the princesses, to whom, under the presiding genius of Princess Beatrice, is confided the task of decorating the house with holly and mistletoe brought down from Windsor. The Queen raises her own Christmas trees at Win-dors, and they are trained and trimmed with particular care. The biggest of these trees is set up in the Osborne banqueting-hall and loaded with presents for the school children of Whippingham church, thanks to some old custom which has managed to get itself preserved.
The Queen herself used to distribute the presents, but has surrendered this task to the princesses, although she usually comes in to see the fun.

It is at the dinner on Christmas Eve that the celebrated baron of beef is placed on the sideboard. It must be taken from the Queen's own oxen, and the roasting always has to be done at Windsor, for the kitchen at Osborne has no appliances big enough. The roasting always is begun on 22nd December and continues throughout the day, while all the next day is taken in the gradual process of cooling.

After the Christmas Eve dinner comes the Christmas tree for the young royalties, with games and a jolly good time all round, just like any other family. Stockings are hung beside the mantel in the good old-fashioned way, and later on the Queen sometimes helps the princesses to fill them.

The Christmas dinner comes on Christmas night, and the baron of beef on the sideboard is flanked with a vast woodcock pie and a royal boar's head, which is the invariable Christmas present of Emperor William of Germany to his august grandmother. The Queen's plum pudding comes from Windsor, and is so mighty an affair that there is enough for every one of the descendants, all of whom are expected to get a piece, wherever they may be. The first section to be sent off by mail is usually that directed to the Queen's grandsons-in-law, the Tsar of Russia.

The Queen herself gets scarcely a bit of all this rich fare, so careful is she of her health and of the advice of her physicians. She is becoming more and more of a vegetarian, although meat is not altogether denied to her, but the plain-ness of her food is made up by the pains which insists shall be taken with the cooking of each dish. No court champagne figures at the Queen's Christmas dinner, but the chances are that Her Majesty will not touch a drop of it.
She has confined herself of late to a single glass of Scotch whisky, mixed with filtered water, and sometimes, if the meal were heavy, a thimbleful of ancient liqueur Scotch to follow
as a cordial.

SINGAPORE CANAL SCHEME.

At recent meeting of the Legislative Council
the subject of the proposed canal from Singapore River to Keppel Harbour came up for discussion, when the Governor enumerated the advantages of the scheme. They were: Facilities for transport between the Singapore River and Keppel Harbour; a shorter route than usual between the two places; a sheltered route between the two when the sea is rough; new areas for warehouses along the line of the proposed canal; increased flow of clean water along the Singapore River, thereby diminishing deposit of silt and improving sanitation; diminution of traffic in the lower reaches of Singapore River, where traffic is at present congested; and additional defence to coal-sheds.

FACTS OF ABSORBING INTEREST TO THOSE WHO ARE IN THE CLUTCHES OF RHEUMATISM.

One cannot be too quickly cured of Rheumatism. To get rid of these awful pains that make life a never ending series of torture, now mild, now excruciating, to-day in bed, to-morrow hobbling around in crutches—to be relieved of such a condition is always the happiest period of one's life. Little's Oriental Balm has effected thousands of wonderful cures of long standing cases of rheumatism, cases that were supposed to be hopeless and beyond the reach of medicine. These cures have been so complete and permanent that Little's Oriental Balm is undoubtedly the true specific to cure Rheumatism.

Mr. N. Bell, Woodport, N. Y., says:—
"For 10 years I suffered from rheumatism, at times so severe that I could neither walk nor lie down. I used Little's Oriental Balm, and it completely cured me, notwithstanding that my case was chronic and baffled the skill of the best physician." Sold at 1s. 1d. per bottle. Agents for SINGAPORE—THE VICTORIA DISPEN-SARY, Ltd.

and Keppel Harbour on land side by the interposition of a canal 5 ft. wide. His Excellency in referring to the employment of an assistant engineer at a salary of $300 a month, said the Secretary of State had written that it appeared to him a work of such magnitude ought not to be undertaken until the highest expert advice has been obtained. "They would no doubt at the same time carefully weigh the relative advantages of constructing this canal and of opening a branch of the railway, which might possibly serve the same purpose. It is understood, moreover, that a canal which formerly existed, but was filled in some time ago, had almost come to be a public nuisance. It would be well to direct special attention to the question of keeping the water in the canal now proposed from becoming stagnant or contaminated. There were several objections raised by the Secretary of State which were promptly met by His Excellency, who went on to tell his hearers that there would be a considerable current through the proposed canal quite sufficient to renew the water daily.

Careful observations were being taken to ascertain what this current would be. A loop along the populous and rapidly increasing suburb of Pasir Panjang returning to the main line near Wayang Satu would facilitate working the railway, as the metropolitan portion would form a circle on which more frequent trains would run than those going to Johore; it could also provide an almost direct train service between the Barracks and the fortifications round Keppel Harbour.
